1959-60 Grants Are Decreased

Special Fund No Longer Aids McGill

Provincial grants to Quebec's universities for 1959-60 were estimated by the Quebec government, yesterday, to be $11,041,700, compared to the $10,328,700 of last year. The total expenditures in Quebec of $548,938,000 are to be the highest ever.

However, McGill received a cut in provincial grants, $1,739,000, as compared with $1,801,000 last year. The drop is attributed to the fact that last year's estimate included payment of the final instalment of $500,000 on a special construction grant of $1,500,000.

The grants to individual universities, with current year's figures in brackets, are:

Montreal $5,050,000 ($4,740,000); Sherbrooke $1,050,000 ($500,000); Bishop's $390,000 ($350,000); Laval $2,462,000 ($2,587,000); and Sir George Williams $350,000 (same as this year).

Basically, the provincial grant structure for universities remains unchanged, variations being largely due to construction programs.

McGill gets $62,992 less than in the current year, when a final payment of $500,000 on a special construction grant was included. Other grants to McGill have increased, for example, the new estimate included $125,000 for the Normal College at Macdonald College, St. Ann De Bellevue, compared with $87,000 for this purpose in the current year.

POLYTECHNIC SCHOOL

The university of Montreal will receive $2,400,000 in connection with the new Polytechnic school, built entirely at provincial government expense. The amount the University of Sherbrooke will receive is far higher than last year because of the special grants for a normal school. Bishop's University also received a special grant of $250,000 to help pay the cost of a new building.

Even in view of the grants on the part of the provincial government, the financial position of McGill worsened in the past year. Tuition fees were raised to help the University pay for running expenses. Moreover, it has been estimated that the University pays, per student,

McGill Cleared In Survey Mishap

The Superior Court on Tuesday cleared the University of a damage suit brought against it by a fifth-year engineering student injured in a summer survey school accident.

Mr. Justice I. Smith assessed the organization and operation of the summer school in rejecting the $12,834 damage action taken by Steven Roessler which blamed the "Royal Institution for the Advancement of Learning" (Mc-Gill's official name) for allegedly failing to provide proper supervision of students on survey party field work at St. Gabriel de Brandon.

The accident took place in May 1958, when Roessler was sighting through the telescope of a level. A fellow-student inadvertently stepped back into the instrument, resulting in the eye injury; the plaintiff suffered a detached retina.

Roessler, in an interview with the Daily, stated that he did not know "whether or not the case was over yet." When asked how he felt about the outcome, replied, "what can I say... justice must be done." He would not comment further without his legal counsel.

The action initiated by the student's father was continued under his own name when he attained his majority last year.

The university was represented by Archibald MacDonald.

Roessler had brought his action claiming that under Articles 1053 and 1054 of the Civil Code the university should be held responsible "because it failed to maintain a proper degree of supervision over the students as they worked."

UNFORTUNATE OCCURRENCE

The judge stated that, "The proof has shown that the survey school has been operated for many years and is well organized and well staffed and it is conducted in the manner employed by other universities." The "unfortunate occurrence", he found, was the result of a "pure accident", which could not have been foreseen and happened in a fraction of a second.

He found no merit in the plaintiff's contention that the group instructor was absent from the victim's area at the time the accident occurred.

In conclusion the judgment said: "It has been established

Producers Speak

Reason Given In Defence Of Strike

By BERNARD SCHNEIDER

The feeling of insecurity and declining bargaining power on the part of Montreal producers has been mainly responsible for the CBC Producers Strike, said a panel of Guy Beaulne, Rene Levesque, and Jean Marchand, principals in the strike, speaking in the Union Ballroom yesterday.

According to the speakers, the producers have put a lot of time and effort into the television industry since its inception in Canada. Now, however, management has hemmed in the producers through the needless hiring of various other employees.

CONTRACTS EXPIRE

The producers have found that they have no control over budgets, casts or scripts. They further complained that the CBC had even removed the clause from their contracts which required the Corporation to negotiate with them from 90 days before their contracts expired. As a result, 22 producers have been without contracts since May.

Guy Beaulne cried out that "the higher management seem to have forgotten the most important element — the human element"

M. Beaulne stated that their strike is not a question of salaries, it is a question of moral principles; the right of any group of men doing the same work to unite and discuss their problems. These are the issues for which we are willing to sacrifice; and until they are accepted we shall not go back to work."

The strikers complained that since some of them were compelled to work without contracts, they were all too frequently delegated to menial labour. This undertaking of lower duties frequently jeopardized their new contracts, for they now had no record to stand on and thus very rarely received compensation when they had assumed more important duties.

The striking producers found that the supervisors placed over them only served to further sti-

Composer Gould Lectures

The American Conductor-composer Morton Gould will lecture tonight at 8:15 pm in Moyse Hall.

The title of the lecture is "A Composer At Work", and it will be illustrated at the keyboard. It is sponsored by the McGill Faculty of Music.

Mr. Gould has established a world wide reputation both as a composer and a conductor. One of his well-known compositions includes three symphonies, three American symphonettes, the Lincoln Legend, Spirituals for orchestra, Concerto for Viola and many others.

NEW YORK BALLET

At present Mr. Gould is engaged in writing a full length ballet for George Ballanchine and the New York Ballet Company. He has recently been commissioned by the Province of Ontario and the State of New York to compose the "St. Lawrence Suite".

The lecture is free and open to members of the public.

This Morning's Headlines

News of National and World Significance

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 14 — The toll of war-crimes executions in Cuba soared today to 180. Rebel chieftain Fidel Castro declared they will continue, regardless of world opinion. Asked whether the shooting of Fulgencio Batista's accused henchmen would be called off, Castro replied swiftly: "No. To the contrary, we have given orders to shoot every one of these murderers. And if we have to battle world opinion to mete out justice we are prepared to do it".

OTTAWA, Jan. 14 — The Commons Opposition parties, professing themselves full of ginger and fight, are ready to move to the attack on the Progressive Conservative government in the new parliamentary session. Both Opposition Leader Lester Pearson and Hazen Argue, House Leader of the CCF group, indicated their main line of attack will be the government handling of inflation, recession and unemployment problems.

Some Perspective, Please

It is curious that the thing most necessary to successful living is the most difficult of attainment in college. We mean perspective, the ability for placing things in their proper relationships.

The University is no longer a cloistered institution, sheltered by walls of ivy from the world outside. But it is still separated by a great gulf from reality. And many students flounder in this gulf, although they are pitifully unaware of its existence.

It is only too easy to confuse the petty problems of collegiate life with reality. Thus we find the ordinary student beating his hand against so many imaginary walls. Little bourgeois wives, rush madly about pretending to social importance. Earnest students grovel for their grades without ever trying to relate their studies to the future.

This is a plea for perspective. Social failure and success in collegiate society have nothing to do with reality unless one can give them their proper importance. The highest grades in scholastic studies are worthless unless they are properly integrated into the business of living and growing.

Let us not imagine that the Red and White Revue, for instance, or attendance at every event in the Winter Carnival is more important to us as individuals than the reality of the situation in Communist China. The former events may seem crucial to our immediate happiness, but the latter will affect us tomorrow and in the far distant future. Without the proper perspective the wisest of men is the veriest of fools.

The Negro King

The students who gathered in the Ballroom yesterday at noon heard, from Mr. Rene Levesque, a very interesting analogy — the colonial legend of the Negro King applied to the present political situation in Quebec.

As Mr. Rene Levesque expounded it, the story goes something like this. Most colonial empires have attempted to convert the peoples who came under their jurisdictions. They tried to foist upon the natives their own religion, their own value-systems, their own forms of government. The French, Mr. Levesque noted, wished to turn all their subjects into Frenchmen, a feat whose impossibility has led the French empire into no little trouble recently.

The British, on the other hand, regarded their empire as a business venture, and ran it as such. They did not attempt to change the natives' way of life. In fact, they had as little as possible to do with the internal structure of native society. They ruled from the top, dealing only with the native leader — the Negro King. While he could sometimes be troublesome, he was much easier to deal with than native society en masse. When he was under their control, so was the populace.

Mr. Levesque, citing an article by André Laurendeau, one of the editors of Le Devoir, noted that this situation was quite analogous to modern-day Quebec. The local leader — need we name names? — was quite safe in the pockets of the colonial administrators: the Montreal press lords and industrialists. English Canada, exerting a detached control, had no need to concern itself with such problems of the French-Canadian community as the producers' strike or the troubles of the labour movement in Quebec.

The analogy is an interesting one, but one which seems a little less than apt.

For one thing, it illustrates a rather masochistic tendency in French-Canadian thinking. There is always a penchant on the part of the Quebecois to regard themselves as natives, slaves of empire, and victims of colonial oppression. Such an attitude is hardly relevant to the present situation.

Secondly, the analogy fails to account for certain realities. The local negro king is not just another puppet. He is a leader with a great deal of power of his own. In fact, the very source of his power is his ability to play upon the abovementioned sensitivities of his people, and to present himself as the last bastion against the tyranny of central imperialism.

For a "native leader", our local patriarch has had surprisingly little hesitation in using his influence in the affairs of the larger empire. We know of at least one Great White Father who is unduly beholden to him.

We sympathise with Mr. Levesque, and with French Canada. But we cannot condone attempts to place the blame for Quebec's political ills on leaders other than those whom Quebec itself has chosen as its champions.

Interlude

You say the sun is shining?
You ask me if I smell
The honeysuckle and pine Damp with morning dew.

No, there is no sunshine
[here].

Watch your step
As you grope along that [wall]
It's so easy to lose a footing
[here].

At the end of this dark [passage]
I think there will be light.

I will hold tight
To the memory of The honeysuckle and the [vine],
Sun, slow your setting
Until I get there!

Engineers Solve The World's Ills

To the Editor:
Mankind is tottering on the brink of nuclear destruction. Who are the persons responsible for this state of affairs?

It is true that nuclear energy was discovered by scientists; this source of almost infinite power for good was not first used for the benefit of the human race, but was instead misused by the politicians of the day for a destructive purpose. Politicians have consistently used the inventions and discoveries of the engineer and scientist to the detriment of mankind. It is ironic that they should be elected to do this. Can they call themselves intellectuals and philosophers?

Unfortunately, throughout the ages, the leaders of mankind have been intellectual frauds. Scientists and engineers make use of the knowledge gained by their predecessors for the technical advancement of the human race.
Can the politicians claim the same
of their study of history?

They are incompetent to lead the world as is evidenced in history and the mess that is the current international situation.
The immense success of the recent International Geophysical Year has proved conclusively that the scientists and engineers of all nations can work together for the advancement of knowledge because of a common sense of responsibility. In these troubled times they, in partnership, can still search for the truth while their so-called "intellectual" leaders pass threatening notes to each other.

Frank McDonnell,

Initiative Rewarded

To the Editor:

I should like to publicly congratulate Robert Knox who, at his own expense, brought to McGill an exhibition of paintings by James Yeargens, now on display in the Club Room of the Union.

To my knowledge, this is the first of such an enterprise which a student on his own initiative has put in a great deal of time and energy to bring to the student body some feature of cultural interest.

We cannot but admire the public-mindedness of such an action and hope that others will follow this admirable example.

Sales Begin For Red & White's "Reign Or Shine"

Box office for "Reign or Shine", this season's Red and White Revue, opens today at the S. E. C. office in the Union.

The tickets will be on sale from 9-6 p.m. daily and from 9-5 p.m. Saturday. "Reign or Shine" will open in Moyse Hall on Thursday, February 5. Tickets are $1.50 and $2.00.

Phone reservations will be accepted at Avenue 8-2248, and will be held for a maximum of 48 hours.

Rehearsals for the Revue, based on financial problems of a mythical university, are being held morning, noon, and night in the Union.

CHEST X-RAYS BEGUN

Chest X-Rays by appointment have begun. Appointments are being made through each Faculty according to notice.

The Faculty of Engineering registration begin yesterday. Engineering students are asked to watch the blackboard in the lobby of the Engineering Building. Registration for Second Year Engineering students will be in that lobby today from 9 am - 4 pm.

The attention of all students is drawn to the University requirement of an annual chest X-ray.

Student Killed In Russian Roulette

A game of Russian roulette yesterday caused the death of a twenty-one year old college student in Paul Smiths, N. Y.

Police said that Paul Phillips of Riverhead, N.Y. performed the game in a room with seven other students. He inserted a cartridge in a .22-caliber revolver, spun the chamber, placed the weapon against his head and pulled the trigger. The pistol went off and Phillips died instantly.

Mr. Roessler's action asked the court to award him $10,000 as compensation for 10 per cent permanent partial incapacity through his seriously impaired sight in the injured eye. There were also claims totalling $2,500 for pain and suffering and future medical care, and $33 for medical expenses.

file their declining powers. They found this hostile atmosphere in the CBC a detriment to creative work. As a result the management had previously given them the right to delegate spokesmen but refused to discuss the important and crucial problems.

Beaulne said that "if we can not discuss our problems, we are not management. Since we have no negotiating powers we are employees. Now, however, since our dismissal we are not employees, not management, and not even CBC."

Many Prizes Unclaimed By Stub-holders

As of Jan. 1 1959 the total amount collected by Combined Charities was $3,050. The final distribution according to faculty will be published in the near future.

This figure is approximately 60% of the objective of 5,000 dollars. Campaign officials advance the following reasons for the poor showing: appeals by charitable organizations off campus, the financial difficulties of many students, and clerical error in the addressing of envelopes. There is also a general lack of understanding on the part of the student body as to where the money goes.

The following prizes have not yet been claimed, and winners must present their ticket stubs to Shirley in the S.E.C. office before Saturday: Mt. Gabriel week-end no 6819, Mt Tremblant week-end no 7120, T.C.A. round-trip ticket to New York no 200, Cafe Martin dinner no 3189, Hartney's gift certificate no 7136 and a Steinberg gift package no 3423.

1959-60 Grants Are Decreased

$250 more than any other university in Canada.

In Ontario, for example, the provincial government granted last year $11,000,000 to the University of Toronto, $2,000,000 to Queen's, and $2,000,000 to Western. These figures and the fact that the above mentioned universities also receive federal grants is one of the factors contributing to the lower tuition fees and the less expenditures, on the part of the universities, per student.

DECLINED FEDERAL GRANTS

With the exception of the University of Toronto, all other universities in the considerably smaller province of Ontario have a dens body than McGill.

The universities of the Province of Quebec are the only universities in Canada which have declined federal grants. This is due to the stand taken by the Quebec government concerning these federal grants. There is at present over $4,000,000 in trust for McGill in Ottawa.

STUDENT BURSARIES

In December of last year, student representatives from Quebec's six Universities met with Premier Duplessis and other government officials to discuss student bursaries. Before that time, the Premier had made it quite clear that he would refuse to discuss the problem of federal aid. The meeting turned out to be very "cordial".

Redmen Band Holds Uniform Design Contest

The Redmen Band is sponsoring a uniform design contest.

This decision arises from the general feeling that the Band should be sparked up in many ways. It is two years since slight alterations were made to the uniforms. At that time gold braid was added to the tunics, and new hats were initiated.

CARNIVAL BALL

The prizes for the winning design will be a set of tickets for Winter Carnival Week-end, complete from a strip up north on Friday, to the Carnival Ball on Saturday night.

All designs must be submitted to George in the Union Tuck Shop before 2 pm Friday February 13. The designs will be judged on cost, feasibility, handling ease and originality. The judges will consist of the Director of Athletics, the President of the Band, a representative of the Graduates Society, and a student representative. Results will be announced during the week preceeding Winter Carnival.

CHANGE OF COURSE

The change of course period for the second term will extend from January 12 to January 20. During this period students in the Faculty of Arts and Science may change their registration in second term courses only, so that they may drop a second term course for which they registered originally and replace it with another second term course.

In order to be properly registered the student must effect this change by completing the official change of course forms available in the Assistant Dean's office. These forms (three in number) must be completed and turned in by the student who should call back in one week to receive his copy which will be signed if the change is approved. Merely turning in the forms does not constitute authority for the change and it is the student's responsibility to ascertain that the change has been approved.

Positively no changes will be considered after this deadline date of January 20.

Swimmers To Wet Water Wings As Practices Start

Coach Ross Firth will be coaching an almost new team this year as the Redmen swimmers are faced with team losses by graduation and ineligibilities of last year's men.

The team will again be bolstered by veteran Cameron Grout who saw action at the British Empire games as a representative of Canada and who was also chosen as the Amateur Athlete of the year by the Montreal Star.

Fresh from the ranks of Montreal amateur swimmers is Richard Pound, a freshman at McGill. He will most likely see action in the Freestyle and Breast stroke events.

Another freshman is Peter Rees who will be aiding the team in the back stroke department.

Up from the water polo team will be high scoring Henri Polkki who was one of the key factors in the McGill win against Toronto for the Herschorn trophy. Polkki will be swimming in the Freestyle events.

Allen McDougal and Raymond Chen are also new men who will be swimming the Breast and Freestyle respectively.

Ery Magasanik and Nick Kaurser are two more water polo stalwarts who will bolster the ranks of the swimming squad.

In the diving department, veteran Dan Mackie, who will also serve as swim team captain, will see action. Freshman Bill Southern, up from Trinity College and a winner of the Martlet Meet, and Inter-Canadian Inter-scholastic meet, completes the McGill diving squad.

Women Cagers Meet YWCA

McGill "Reds" meet the YWCA tonight in their first encounter in the Women's Open Basketball League. Game time is 7:30 pm sharp.

Sally Sadler who walked off with the individual scoring honours in intramural competition will see action up front along with Barbara Gatehouse, Anna Bey and Donna Hill. In addition to these forwards, will be Anna Bey and Donna Hill. In addition to these forwards, will be Anne Lafleur, the squads top free thrower, who rarely misses them. Jean Anne McKellar, Mary Farr and Bonnie Stamos "Red" rear-guards will be in there to stymie the "Y"'s scoring attempts.

Two versatile girls, Corrie Comen and Jean Taylor will lend their talents both ways. Corrie, a third year Phys. Ed. student at McGill was a standout for MacDonald College last year and has turned in commendable performances in both outings this year.

Redmen Grunt 'n Groaners Open Doors To All Comers

The McGill Wrestling squad, under the mentorship of coach Al Turnbull, is holding practices every Tuesday and Thursday evening at 5:00 pm in the BW&F room at the gymnasium.

For all those who are interested in developing the gentle art of grunt and groaning, this is the splendid opportunity. Coach Turnbull will take on all comers regardless of experience or lack of it with an eye on training them for intercollegiate competition and representing the Red and White colors in the wrestling arena.

All a person has to do to qualify for the training is to weigh somewhere between 123 lb. and infinity and show up for the training sessions.

The team will see action at the next Athletics Night on January 31st when they will take on the wrestling squad representing the Dartmouth colors.
